Rhodesia Nuns Slain In Guerrilla Attack

SALISBURY - Black guerrillas killed seven white Roman Catholic missionaries, four of them nuns, in an attack Sunday night on a mission 36 miles north of this Rhodesian capital, a church spokesman said today.

Two of the priests and one of the four Dominican nuns were British, the other three church officials said.

Archbishop 'Patrick Chakaipa, 'Rhodesla's first black Catholic archbishop, condemned the attack, saying those responsible "make were thought to be sare.

The attack was the most serious against the missionary community during the four-year guerrilla war to end white rule in Rhodesia. On Dec. 5, a lone guerrilla killed a retired Catholic bishop, a priest and a nun after stop-ping their car in western Rhodesia and demanding money. Another nun was wounded but escaped by pretending to have been killed.

Rec Centre Drinking

The official boards of Sidney and North Saanich United Churches wish to alert the residents of Sidney and North Saanich, to the Review news release, Drinking Allowed in Rec Centre. It is stated "the new Sidney-North Saanich recreation centre will join the ranks of the Juan de Fuca and the Oak Bay recreation centres - in the serving of alcoholic beverages.

As the Sidney-North Saanich recreation centre is primarily a youth and family centre, we believe that the serving of alcoholic beverages will of necessity split up the family. At a time when the federal and provincial governments are spending thousands of dollars in an anti-drinking campaign, why do we need to subsidize and promote it here among our youth? Our understanding of the new provincial legislation is that permission to serve alcoholic beverages must come from North Saanich municipal council not ey council. North Saanich has stated that they are unwilling at present to serve alcoholic beverages, but in view of the pressure being exerted by some members the recreation commission, and by the Sidney council, and in the absence of a citizens' committee to safeguard the interests of the silent majority, we would respectfully suggest that residents of Sidney, North Saanich, and Central Saanich, who are opposed to such a policy write a letter to both North Saanich council and Sidney council, and write or contact aldermen and members of the recreation commisson.—H. Late in 1968, my wife, John Stagant and myself discussed our concern over numerous environmental matters including the problems of oil spills from in-creasing numbers of oil tankers. We delved into many of the ramifications related to the transport of oil, the effects of oil spills, what protective measures were feasible to minimize oil spill occurrences and what actions were possible to clear up spills.

That first submission was followed by two further briefs to the federal government, a presenation to Atlantic Richfield in Washington state by my wife and a team of concerned ladies. There were other sentations in 1970 and 1971 to a variety of official groups in Oftawa and the U.S.

In May and June of 1971, my wife and 60-year-old Alice Coppard hitchhiked across Canada to Washington, D.C., where they presented a 60,000-signature petition to the U.S. secretary of the interior's office. This petition exhibited the concern of B.C. residents to the transportation of American oil along B.C.'s coast. On their minister of the environment. Jack Davis fact, on any given day, without the slightest prompting, fitness freaks will sit you down and say it all again. And again. That, not incidentally, is how you can recognize a fitness freak at a party — he's the one with pink cheeks, and all the people near him are yawning. In that sense, fitness freaks are like born-again Baptists; they can't shut up about it.

Now it's all very well to be fit, but ever since the feds started bombarding us with those The Average 60-year-old Swede is Fitter Than ... commercials a few years ago, Canadians have been becoming increasingly carried away, with the whole thing. It has reached the point now where the rights of the unfit are endangered.

Yup, there's a lot to be said for fitness and most of it is propaganda. What fol-

Most smokers are clean and cuddly. Anyway, they have been barred from some places now, and always get the cruddy seats in movie theatres. The good thing about smokers is that they smoke quietly; have you ever sat next to a fitness freak in a show? Fitness freaks always eat health-food bars in the show; there is no such thing as a quiet health food.

Car drivers are the next victims. There are so many fitness freaks now that the roads aren't safe for cars anymore. Drivers are regarded as being almost as bad as smokers, and with as few rights. In Toronto, packs of joggers clog the major streets, refusing to run on the sidewalks if they're not shovelled. Some jogger gangs are vicious, too, and have been known to run up and accost innocent drivers and breathe wetly all over their windshie One man I know was mugged by a pack of joggers. They made him run on the spot in the middle of the rush hour, and then sprinted off with his car keys.

Another hazard to safe driving is the cyclist who refuses to acknowledge that nter is here. It used to be that cyclists put away their bikes when they closed the cottage, on Labor Day weekend. Now they just get out the snow tires.

Between them, cyclists and joggers are destroying our parks. Militant cyclists are crying for bike paths; militant joggers are crying for jog-ways. They cycle and jog through the woods, where humans were never meant to go. Cyclists and joggers who take their fat old dogs with them do even more damage to our parks. have virtually taken over Toronto's High. Park, making it difficult to drive at more than 30 miles an hour on leisurely Sunday outings. You can't even have a daag race with a friend in a park any more.

Most fitness freaks, period, do not know their place. Cross-country ski nuts band together and refuse to allow snowplows on their streets so they can cross-country ski in the city. Crosscountry ski nuts don't realize you should cross-country ski in the country, and they get_cross when you suggest they should Cross-country ski nuts have no sense of humor, just thick thighs.

Fitness freaks, generally, have made life miserable for visiting Swedes and Swedish-Canadians. Fitness freaks are constantly challenging people of Swedish origin to foot races. Elderly Swedes are most often accosted in this fashion, the fitness freak trying to prove that Canadians are fitter than you-know-who. Many Swedes have stopped coming to Canada for this very reason: one Swedish-Canadian girl I know says her Swedish father is afraid to visit her. When he was here a year ago, fitness feaks would not let him alone. In fact, it has got so bad that Canadians visiting. Sweden are now advised to wear the U.S. flag on their backpacks. Unfit Canadians everywhere should band together to fight the menace of fitness. The children of fitness freaks could hire deprogrammers, who would lock the fitness freaks in a room and force feed them French fries for a whole weekend. Drivers could honk everytime saw a cyclist or a jogger. Fat old dogs could rebel and start biting their

AIRLINE PROFITS FLYING HIGH

NEW YORK-(AP) - The U.S. airline industry, which (CAB) said that in the 12 has been cutting costs and juggling fares to win back passengers and profits, has rebounded strongly from the depressed levels of 1975 and is looking toward a healthy 1977.

"The industry has staged a significant comeback from miles flown in 1975. The figures are based on one paying passenger carried one mile. the corrosive effects of the recession," said Julius Maldutis, a vice-president and transportation specialist with the investment banking firm of Salomon Brothers. "And the prospects for fur-ther earnings growth this year and in 1978 seem promis-ing."

When all the earnings reports for last year are in, the 11 major U.S. airlines may show a total profit of $350 million in 1976 from a loss of $100 million overall in 1975, Maldutis said.

Contributing factors in the turnaround were a substantial gain in passenger miles flown, largely due to an improved economy; an increasse of about 10 per cent in domestic fares, and effective cost-control programs. trol programs.

Mexico City's Population Heads for 32 Million People

WASHINGTON - In less than 25 years, Mexico City will be the world's largest city, with nearly 32 million people - two and a half times the projected population of London in the year 2000.

Sao Paulo will be close behind with a population of 26 million - triple the current size of Paris.

According to a recent report from the Population Reference Bureau, a Washingtonbased organization that studies world population and migration trends, cities in underdeveloped countries are growing so quickly that, by the end of this century, more than two-thirds of the world's total urban population will live in

For the first time in history, the report says, the largest Third World cities will be big-ger than any of their counterparts in developed nations. If current population trends con-tinue for the next quarter-century, cities like Bogota, Mani-la, Karachi and Jakarta will triple in size. Lagos, with a current population of 2.1 million, will quadruple. Some cities, with populations al-ready over 10 million, will double in size in the next 10

Problems resulting from such rapid growth, the study says, will be "gargantuan." Nearly all of the new urban population, half of which will be rural emigrants and half native-born, will be poor. Slums and illegal shantytowns that surround Third World cities will balloon; transportation systems that are already nightmarish will get worse; the number of unworse; the number of un-skilled unemployed will mul-

While many of the problems are the unavoidable results of rapid development, population growth and scarce resources, they have been exacerbated, the study says, by poor administration a nd policy-makers whose "attention . . .

"By morning they'll be all over the beach," said a weary rescuer who helped push, coax and tow the whales into deeper water Sunday.

Six of the bend were dead

Six of the herd were dead six of the nerd were dead by nightfall. An additional 25, ranging in length from six feet to 20 feet, remained on the beach, and many of

out to sea turned around looking for a new place to beach.

More than 100 volunteers and marine officers worked through the night to save the herd. Fishermen helping in the rescue said the mammals appeared to be pilot whales.

"Keeping the young calves in deep water has been a problem," said Sgt. J. R. Paproblem, said Sgt. J. R. Pa-trick of the Florida Marine Patrol. They 'hear their mothers call and they come back to the beach."

Torture Routine

LONDON (AP) is almost a "routine practice" in Uganda, ruled by President Idi Amin, Amnesty Interna-tional declared Sunday.

In a report to the United Nations Human Rights Com-mission, London-based Amnesty International said police and dolsiers at some detention centres torture prisoners to death and others are shot.

It urged the commission to investigate what it called "gross violations of human rights" in Uganda since Amin seized power in a military coup six years ago.

The commission is scheduled to begin discussing the Ugandan situation today.

A m n e s t y International claims there have been disappearances or killings of prom-inent Ugandan civilians and there was a "systematic and indiscriminate massacre" of more than 200 Kenyans living in Uganda last year.

It noted there have been reports of Ugandan security forces killing between 50,000 and 300,000 persons since 1971, out said its investigation cannot confirm those figures

Before you invest in any RRSP ask about the guarantee.

All Registered Retirement Savings Plans guarantee to reduce your taxes but, with many plans, that is all that is guaranteed. There is no commitment to invest all of your deposit as part of it may be deducted for sales or administration charges. There is no guarantee against loss if your deposit is invested in stock or bond funds. In short, your RRSP investment may not be guaranteed to grow.

At City Trust we guarantee the growth of your RRSP

Every dollar you invest with City Trust is guaranteed to grow at a high interest rate for as long as five years. We do not charge fees of any kind, so all of your deposit is working for you. We invest your deposit in guaranteed investment certificates which City Trust guarantees against loss of capital. You invest for a set term, so we can guarantee a high rate of interest for the full term of your investment.

Here is what a City Trust Guaranteed RRSP can do for you

Invest $5,500 now. Assuming your contribution is invested for a five year term at 91/2 % *, interest compounded to maturity, your plan is guaranteed to be worth $8,658 at the end of five years.

Invest $1,000 every year in a City Trust Guaranteed RRSP. If the interest rate averages 91/2 %*, at the end of 30 years your investment of $30,000 will be worth over $163,900.

And every dollar you invest reduces your income tax.

If you invested in an RRSP and lost. money because its value or earnings were not guaranteed, we can transfer your plan to City Trust and guarantee its present value and its future growth.

A guaranteed RRSP is the only kind we offer because we think it is the only kind you should invest your future in. Remember, high interest rate-guaranteed growth, coupled with no administration fees, no management fees, no sales commissions, in fact, no charges whatsoever.

The time may come when both the sun and wind can be harnessed economically to generate electricity. Unfortunately neither will ever be free. It will cost a lot of money for the sophisticated equipment required, as well as for the necessary manpower.

Contrary to the popular misconception, Canada's electric utilities would like it to happen sooner than later. And with the Canadian Electrical Association they are studying the role these energy sources may play in meeting our future power needs. In addition to research programs at home, Canada's utilities are also "plugged into" a multi-billion dollar information-research exchange with other utilities throughout the world.

Already, test windmills are in operation at key locations across the country. Moreover, researchers are awaiting results from a test "wind turbine" now being erected in the southern United States. This unit's twin 60-foot aluminum blades will spin atop a 100-foot high steel tower. And as long as the wind blows, the turbine will generate some electricity. Such wind machines could one day dot the landscape.

But while wind power may offer some hope, it is the possible applications of solar energy which capture the imagination. Solar energy, though expensive, is now a feasible method of heating single family homes and it may be only a matter of time and economics before research teams successfully harness its unlimited energy for much wider use. Solar cells, which produce electricity in space satellites, may be part of the solution. But at present, electricity from solar cells costs between 50 and 100 times more than electricity produced by present methods.

In Europe, a parabolic mirror half the size of a football field is being tested. Like a giant magnifying glass, the huge mirror focuses the rays of the sun on a single point. Another experiment in the U.S. calls for more than 100 acres of mirrors to direct the sunlight to a tower where the concentrated heat could boil water to make steam.

Because the sun doesn't shine all the time and because the wind doesn't blow all the time, the primary objective of the research teams is to discover efficient and economical methods to store electricity generated by the sun and the wind.

Solar and wind power are not free and never will be. Nonetheless, Canada's electric utilities will continue to study the possibility of their future feasibility.

In other research programs directed at ensuring dependable electric service for Canadians, the Canadian Electrical Association will spend more than two million dollars this year working with universities and industrial research facilities across Canada. Electric utilities will spend millions more on their own development programs.

It further called for the B.C. government make the draft of any such statute "available for public debate and reactions for at least 90 days prior to its introduction in the provincial legislature.'

A request was also made for immediate action to "enact freedom of information legislation, guaranteeing citizen groups access to all government information re-quired for effective public participation in environmental decision-making."

During the meeting the delegation recommended that "the provincial government seek federal government cooperation to explore the con-cept of a public interest 'en-dowment' fund, such as the Canada Council grants, to provide funding for public interest organizations."

It also recommended that both governments consider the funding of recognized citizen interest groups, and that the cost of such funding at public hearings be included in the development costs of major resource developments.

Bill of Rights

Fossibly the most interesting presentation of the morning, however, was a call for the British Columbia government to "immediately commence preparation of an Environmental Bill of Rights."

Provisions in this recom-mendation covered the rights of everyone to a healthy environment; giving any citizen the right to defend any part of the environment in the courts and requirement for social and environmental impact statements prior to develop-mation pertaining to environ-mental issues and decisions is included along with a provi-sion guaranteeing to citizens the right to participate in the formation of environmental quality standards and a guar-antee of financial support to citizen groups participating in environmental decision-mak-

Suggestion was also put forward that public hearings and other public participation techniques, such as referen-dum procedures prior to envi-ronmental decisions, be required by specific legislative provisions.

Finally, there was a de-claration "recognizing the fraility of the natural environ-ment and the necessity to restore and maintain the delicate balance of our ecosystem."
With Mrs. Evans at the meeting were Mrs. Dorothy

One Good Exercise Surely Beats None

By JENNIFER ANDERSON

One good exercise, done daily, can firm the body — if it is an exercise that involves the use of lots of muscles at the same time.

If you're too busy to bother with a daily dozen, try one of these a dozen times a day. Dear Jennifer: I'm in good shape except for my mi-driff and stomach. I seem to carry extra weight right around the middle. Do you have an exercise that is good for that area? - Carol T., Montreal.

One exercise done daily can be far more effective than a long list of exercises that are ignored because they take too much time or require a change into exercise clothing. Here is a special exercise to take care of your problem: Stand with feet apart, arms down in front of your body. Clasp your fingers by in-terlacing them. Now raise the arms above your head and, with the fingers still interlaced, turn your palms out and up to face the ceiling.

Stretch up and take a deep breath. Now describe a large circle with the wrone body. circle with the upper body. Stretch out to the left, come down low over the feet, come up over the right side of the body, bend backward as far as you can until you have reached the original position.
Try to make each circle big-

Try to reach farther in all directions and make the circle fluid and smooth like a well-oiled machine.

Do 10 of these each day, raising the number to 20 by adding a few extra revolutions each day.

This exercise will not only take care of the waist and midriff from back, sides and front, but will get rid of the bulges that often form just above the bra.

The how much you can pay for result will be the price you firewood and still save money over your costs for heating BTU. with gas, oil or electricity. Here's how to do it:

Get out your pocket calculator and a copy of a recent fuel bill. Then take a look at the accompanying table of fuel values. The table tells you the amount of heat you'll get from home heating fuels under average home conditions. The figures given assume 70 per cent efficiency for gas and oil furnaces, 50 per cent efficiency for burn-

Multiply by the fuel value for a cord of wood (13,000,000) and you'll get 5,461. That figure is the price in cents you can pay for a cord of wood and still break even. Divide by 100 and you'll get your break-even price in dollars per cord — $54.61.

Therefore, if you can buy firewood at a price under $54.61 a cord, you'll save money by heating with wood. Naturally, the lower the price for wood, the more you'll save A BTU is the amount of heat what will raise one pound of water one degree. A BTU produced by burning wood will keep you just as warm as a BTU from burning gas or oil. Once you know how much you pay per BTU for your conventional heating fuel, just multiply that price by the BTUs available in a cord of wood. The result is the price you can pay for a cord of wood, and still break even with your costs for heating yet 19,500 cents, of $195, per with your present fuel.

Pay To Be a Lady?

DEAR ABBY: Does it pay to be a lady these days? I to be a lady these days? I kept steady company with a gentleman for eight years. He is now 74 and I am 66. I didn't believe in going all the way before marriage, and told him so repeatedly, so we just went together and had nice clean fun.

I had a friend (about my age) who was also a widow. She had a gentleman friend with whom she travelled and spent weekends. They were going all the way without any pretences, and he finally mar-ried her. Now she is living like a queen and having a ball.

Three months ago, my gentleman friend dropped me for a woman who would go all the way. And after I went steads:

Kitchens have their style trends as much as any other room. Originally purely utilitarian with no style at all, they first went to clinical white. Dark walnut came in with a bang, representing high style and expense, and when laminated plastics reproduced the handsome grain, they became wildly popular. And even though we've had an onslaught of brightly colored kitchens, dark cabinets remain on the best-seller fists.

Richard III Skilful, Beautiful

By AUDREY JOHNSON Times Staff

A skillfully-mounted and COLONY beautifully-lighted production of Shakespeare's epic drama, Richard III, now on stage at the McPherson Playhouse, is bound to be the high point of Director Ed Stephenson has risen to the challenge of this monumental undertaking by bringing together an adroit and highly-gifted production crew and a group of 32 actors from various parts of the country, all of whom exhibit a fine dedication to the play and achieve in great measure that sense of ensemble that is vital to a successful presentation of so heroic a canvas. al is competent, at times considerably more than that. There is, for instance, a nicely delineated triple-role performance by Peter Brock-ington notably as the feeble King Edward and subsequently the business-like murderer, Tyrrel. Pat Armstrong is one of the further reachers as the near-mad Queen Margaret, setting the scalp tingling with her bereft fury. And Susan Chapand touching portrayal of the grieving Lady Anne who later becomes Richard's doomed formance but one that has au-thority and some range is given by Jim McQueen as Shakespeare's malicious and treacherous Richard. McQueen has strength and McQueen has strength and the power to sustain and focus the destructive nature of Richard and his relentless ambition, but we do not get much of what, at least in part, has formed that nature.

Richard himself supplies the clue in his opening speech when he rails against the when he rails against the peace that has come upon the land allowing time for lovemaking and courtly pleasures that are not for him ... "I that am rudely stamped ... I proportion, cheated of feature by dissembling nature, deformed, unfinished . . His crooked back and lameness are more than out-ward symbols and while they ward symbols and while they need not be over-emphasized it is necessary that we should be aware of them with some consistency. McQueen forgets to limp too often and the padding in the shoulder of his costume is so subtle as to be inconspicuous most of the

In a sense, however, these are the kind of nit-picking criticisms that one levels only at a generally accomplished performance. McQueen soared at times to provide moments that had a touch of inspiration. Such a scene came with Richard's mounting of the throne and rejection helped him there.

There is some trouble with vocal range and color among the cast; lack of experience in speaking Shakespearean lines shows up in difficulties with phrasing and resonance at the lower dynamic levels. Nevertheless, when said, this is a production Bas-tion and Stephenson can regard with pride.

Much credit is earned, too, by designer Jack Simon for an effective but simply con-ceived set and excellent cos-tumes; to Jack Trueman for lighting that does everything to enhance the designer's work and assist the actors and to whoever was responsible for the well-chosen musiand evocative sound effects. Richard III continues night

Lathing is suggested for several reasons in preference to solid material. One good point is that it allows air to travel through. This keeps a buoyant atmosphere on the deck in summer and in winter.

There is also a certain amount of visibility through to the sky and to the view at the side of the deck. This prevents the closed - in feeling that must never be allowed to occur when we enjoy outdoor

And together with its light weight, lathing is ideal for supporting climbers which give the most delightful back-ground to a sundeck living with an attempt at thus providing a living plant back-ground. The owner has encouraged an old grape vine to go up the side of the deck

However, grape vines make very heavy plants when used in this way, for a great deal of old wood must be maintained at deck level to provide new-growth each year for fruit bearing. And the weight for an average sundeck will in-crease each year and may unexpectedly result in collapse.

Smaller rooting, less dense and less permanent climbers can be planted into sizeable tubs right on the deck itself and encouraged to seramble over the wood lath trellising. Two suggestions are Russian Fleece-vine (Polygonum baldschuanicum) and the early blooming Clematis montana rubers.

This clematis blooms in late April into May, and the mass of rosy-pink flowers is particularly pleasant so early in the season when one first be-comes aware of the need to sit outdoors. The foliage is a pur-pleasant as a background. Another advantage is that when flowering ceases the vine can be severly cut back if desired to give more space for the spreading of the Fleece-vine. Or if space permits having the clematis as a shade in early summer in one spot leave it unpruned except for encroaching strong growths.

each spring, early April, to prevent its smothering the house (in time) and to keep the new growths confined to the trellis area where the shade and the masses of creamy white flowers form a moving living drapery drom July to October.

Both these climbers will be less rampant with their roots confined to planter tubs; with the restricting pruning suggested they make an un-

For Annual B.C. Games Program

VANCOUVER (CP) — Recreation minister Sam Bawlf has ended five years of speculation with his announcement that the provincial government will establish an annual British Columbia Games competition beginning next year.

Winter Sports First on List

The first competition will be in winter sports and thereafter it will alternate with summer games in each succeeding year, the minister said in a speech at the B.C. Sports Federa-tion's annual awards dinner.

B.C. had been the only Western Canadian province without a similar form of competition.

Bawlf said $400,000 will be budgeted each year for operat ing expenses and regions and municipalities will bid to host the games.

Tom Walker, executive director of the federation, called the announcement "one of the most exciting things that could ossibly have happened to (B.C.) sport."

Young Dogs Learn Old Police Tricks weighs only 86 pounds.

But no one kids him about

Dana is a police dog, a three-year-old German Shep-

Officially he's regimental dog No. 124, but everyone calls him Dana . . . nice Dana . . . good Dana

In many ways he's just like any other young Shepherd, a bouncing, vigorous, inquisitive package of brown and black

In the hands of his master, Sgt. Wally Regitnig, however, it's a different story. All Regitnig has to do is motion with to attention, his rear end wig-slight variation in Regitnig's command and tone of voice tell Dana what the specific task is and off he goes with — how else to say it? — dogged determination.

It could be to track a lost child, hunter or fugitive. It could be to search for drugs.

Dana is the fifth dog Regitnig has had in his 25 years

He is the top dogmaster in B.C., supervisor of the 22 RCMP dogmen on the Lower Mainland and mentor to 11 other RCMP dog teams scattered throughout the province, including two stationed at Nanaimo which cover Vancouver Island.

His service has taken him across Canada. He once tracked 113 miles along the Alaska Highway for the body of a murder victim. His dog found it. Another time he spent seven months on a search through northern Saskatchewan for a man who shot and killed two mounties. Again the dog found the susinflicted wound.

Only a few of the searches are as rigorous or as lengthy but, Regitnig says, the excep-ions prove the rule: If you want to be a dogman, you better be prepared for anything. Last year the section carried out 1,980 searches in B.C., of which 671 ended

All of the dogs used by the RCMP — there are 62 in Canada — are shepherds, regarded world-wide as the most adaptable breed for police

They are "appropriately ggressive." Regitnig says, generally have a good tem-perment, are strong, con-trollable, fearless and have an smell they can distinguish while tracking one human scent from another. This is all tiny bacteria and epithelium slouched continuously off a person's body. Examples of their ability are legion. One dog located the body of a man buried under 21 feet of snow. Another

'Made in Canada' No Sales Aid

"There's a myth that if it's made in Canada it's inferior," Orton said. Orton said the company decided to buy as much of its merchandise as possible in Canada, recognizing a moral obligation to make a contribution to the country.

The board is nearing the end of hearings to investigate the impact on the Canadian clothing imports. It has heard several submissions from Canadian retailers saying they cannot find what the consumer wants from Canadian manufacturers.

Orton said when Marks and Spencer went to work with Canadian manufacturers, it found they cound produce almost anything, but quality was a problem.

But by working closely with the manufacturers, the com-pany had been able to come up with high-quality Canadian goods at a reasonable price.

WHALES SHUN RESCUE BY 100 VOLUNTEERS

MAYPORT, Fla. (AP) -Volunteers who waded into cold water and labored in nine-degree Celsius tempera-tures to try to save about 200 whales from beaching them-selves said they feared many would die today anyway.

"By morning they'll be all over the beach," said a weary rescuer who helped push, coax and tow the whales into deeper water Sunday.

Six of the herd were dead

Six of the herd were dead by nightfall. An additional 25, ranging in length from six feet to 20 feet, remained on the beach, and many of

out to sea turned around look ing for a new place to beach.

More than 100 volunteers and marine officers worked through the night to save the herd. Fishermen helping in the rescue said the mammals appeared to be pilot whales.

"Keeping the young calves in deep water has been a problem," said Sgt. J. R. Pa-trick of the Florida Marine Patrol. They 'hear their mothers call and they come back to the beach."

Before you invest in any RRSP ask about the guarantee.

All Registered Retirement Savings Plans guarantee to reduce your taxes but, with many plans, that is all that is guaranteed. There is no commitment to invest all of your deposit as part of it may be deducted for sales or administration charges. There is no guarantee against loss if your deposit is invested in stock or bond funds. In short, your RRSP investment may not be guaranteed to grow.

At City Trust we guarantee the growth of your RRSP

Every dollar you invest with City Trust is guaranteed to grow at a high interest rate for as long as five years. We do not charge fees of any kind, so all of your deposit is working for you. We invest your deposit in guaranteed investment certificates which City Trust guarantees against loss of capital. You invest for a set term, so we can guarantee a high rate of interest for the full term of your investment.

Here is what a City Trust Guaranteed RRSP can do for you

Invest $5,500 now. Assuming your contribution is invested for a five year term at 91/2 %*. interest compounded to maturity, your plan is guaranteed to be worth $8,658 at the end of five years.

Invest $1,000 every year in a City Trust Guaranteed RRSP. If the interest rate averages 91/2 %*, at the end of 30 years your investment of $30,000 will be worth over $163,900.

And every dollar you invest reduces your income tax.

If you invested in an RRSP and lost. money because its value or earnings were not guaranteed, we can transfer your plan to City Trust and guarantee its present value and its future growth.

A guaranteed RRSP is the only kind we offer because we think it is the only kind you should invest your future in. Remember, high interest rate-guaranteed growth, coupled with no administration fees, no management fees, no sales commissions, in fact, no charges whatsoever.
